GEMSTONE INDUSTRY NEWSLETTER

HAPPY HOLIDAY SEASON!

For over 50 years, I have been directly purchasing gemstone rough and mineral specimens from miners in Afghanistan and in addition, this last year, designing and directing a newsletter sponsored by USAID. Unfortunately, the Afghanistan Gemstone Industry Newsletter sponsored by USAID has been halted indefinitely due to the Taliban taking over Afghanistan. The American USAID staff has departed Afghanistan and many of the gemstone miners and dealers are in hiding or have left Afghanistan.

At this time shipments from Afghanistan are currently prohibited. Thus, to keep a program operating where buyers can continue to purchase Afghanistan and other countries gemstones, jewelry, carvings, mineral specimens and lapis products, Gem Hunters Corporation (GHC) is offering some of its current stock for immediate purchase. These offerings are but a few items from our 60,000 item plus inventory.

The goods listed are available through: (a) This newsletter; (b) The Gem Hunters Corporation (GHC) web site (www.TheGemHunters.com); (c) GHC's distributors; (d) email MrGary77@aol.com

With our business model you can arrange for a gemstone showing or we can mail the gemstones or jewelry piece for your viewing to one of our distributors near you.

You can sign up for future newsletters at: <http://eepurl.com/b4FQ>

Sincerely

Gary W. Bowersox "The Gem Hunter"

President, Gem Hunters Corporation

LET'S GO GEM HUNTING!!!!!!

70.37 ct. Natural Emerald Carving " Bucephalus"

- This Incredible 70.37 ct. Natural Emerald from the Panjshir Valley of Afghanistan was discovered in Afghanistan by "The Gem Hunter" Gary Bowersox. Gary and Kay Bowersox then took the rough emerald to Uli Pauly a multi-generation, award winning gem carver in Idar-Oberstein Germany for carving into the likeness of "Bucephalus" Alexander the Great's horse which he rode in wars from Greece to India. The "Bucephalus Emerald" pendant has just been completed by Award Winning jewelry designer Greg Crawford and is set in gold and surrounded by 1.10 cts. of diamonds. This is an extraordinary piece for any discerning buyer.

Lapis Lazuli Products Made in Afghanistan

Lapis Lazuli Dining Table

Lapis Lazuli Table or Desk Top

- This fabulous one of a kind lapis-lazuli table/desk top, 72 x 42 inches, was designed by Gary W. Bowersox "The Gem Hunter." It was produced from lapis purchased from the famous 7,000 year old Lapis-Lazuli mines located high in the Hindu Kush mountains at Sar-E-Sang, Afghanistan. The lapis top is a mosaic of highly polished lapis pieces over a single slab of marble. It weights over 300 lbs and measures 72 x 42 inches.

Any buyer must be up to a project as shipping and handling will not be easy on either end. However, this table top has been successfully air freighted from Peshawar, Pakistan and is capable of making another trip.

Additional photos are available and we can work with you on shipping and handling. Smaller table tops are also available or we can arrange for custom tops to fit your dimensions.

Buyer to arrange shipping separately.

LAPIS LAZULI AND MARBLE TABLETOP

- Lapis Tabletop

This natural Afghanistan Lapis Lazuli tabletop is 28 1/2" x 20 1/2" Natural Lapis Lazuli. The tabletop inlayed with white marble and black onyx over white marble. The lapis was purchased by Gary W. Bowersox, "The Gem Hunter." It was hand-designed and crafted by Afghan Haji Mula Muza with his name engraved on the back.

The Lapis is from the famous 7000 plus year old lapis mines at Sar-e-Sang Badakhshan, Afghanistan. These are the same mines that supplied the lapis for the Pharaohs of Egypt.

These mines were filmed for the award winning, 52 minute, documentary "The Gem Hunter in Afghanistan" featuring Gary W. Bowersox. A DVD copy of the film will be presented to the purchaser of this tabletop. Shipping costs to be determined based on final destination following purchase.

SOURCING OF AFGHANISTAN GEMSTONES

For over 50 years I have been directly purchasing gemstone from miners in Afghanistan. The goods are available through (a) this newsletter; (b) The Gem Hunters Corporation (GHC) web site (www.TheGemHunters.com), (c) GHC's list of distributors or (d) by email MrGary77@aol.com

GHC is working to reestablish its supply chain. However currently mining has stopped, and the miners and dealers are hiding out in the Afghanistan mountains and in private homes.

Due to their previous working relationships with USAID government programs and American dealers they have been targeted by the Taliban.

Hopefully, this situation will change in the not to distant future!

“The Gem Hunter in Afghanistan” (A 52-minute Film)

The Gem Hunter in Afghanistan is a great adventure to discover some of the most spectacular gem mines, people and scenic beauty on earth. Gary Bowersox travels into the Hindu Kush Mountains of Afghanistan to find the oldest mine on earth. Rich blue Lapis Lazuli, the precious gemstone that decorates the death mask of Tutankhamun, is still mined in the remote mountains. The journey there involves slipping over borders at night and climbing some of the highest passes on earth. Traveling by horseback, Gary follows in the footsteps of Alexander the Great and Marco Polo. In the nearby Panjshir valley Gary meets old friends and visits emerald mines. The vein of raw gemstones was uncovered by Russian bombs and is now one of the most important sources of emeralds in the world. (Copy right GeoVision, Inc.)

WORLD EMERALD UPDATE

The Emerald Mines of the Panjshir Valley, Afghanistan

By Gary Bowersox

In the first century A.D., Pliny, writing in the Natural History, referred to the occurrence of "smaragdus", a Latin term referring to emerald and other green stones in the vicinity of Bactria, the geographic area including present day Afghanistan. In fact, the presence of "smaragdus" has reportedly come from this region for thousands of years. Afghanistan's Panjshir Valley, an hour drive north of the capital city Kabul, now has commercial emerald production. Such known production only commenced in the early 1980s and has primarily been conducted by Afghan enterprises and individuals much of which is based on historic customary, tribal and family-based operations.

Large, dark green crystals have been discovered by local Afghans in hundreds of tunnels and shafts throughout the valley, informal removal and sale of these emeralds seemed to financially support the activities of the Mujahideen ("freedom fighters") during the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan (1979-89). Since that time the emeralds mined have continued to provide an informal, if not lucrative, business opportunity for local Afghans. Emerald mining in Afghanistan has never been formalized; no legal licensing of emerald mines is known to be in place. Nonetheless, emerald production conducted by local Afghans generates an estimated $10 million each year; revenues generated are not formally taxed.

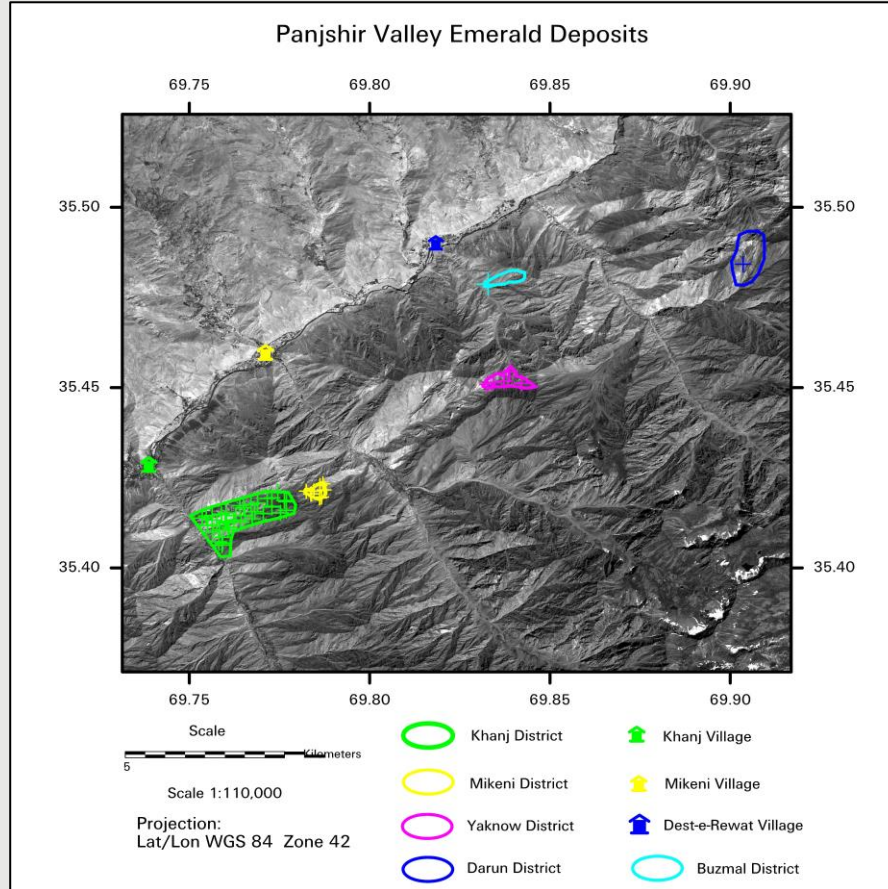

This map shows the location of the Panjshir Valley in Afghanistan and the area that encompasses the emerald deposits shown in this photo. Created by Gary Bowersox and the Greater Estimator of Earth Minerals at the Gemstones and Minerals Institute by Carol Silver.

Ruby Mines Jegdalek, Afghanistan

RUBY AND SAPPHIRE FROM JEGDALEK, AFGHANISTAN

By Gary W. Bowersox, Eugene E. Foord, Brendan M. Laurs,
James E. Stigley, and Christopher P. Smith

This study provides detailed mining and gemmological information on the Jegdalek deposit, an east-central Afghanistan, which is hosted by elongate beds of corundum-bearing marble. Some lace-grade ruby has been recovered, but most of the material consists of semitransparent pink sapphire of cabochon or carving quality. The most common mineral features are dense concentrations of isolated and unattached fracture planes and lamellar twin planes. Color zoning is common, and calcite, apatite, zircon, mica, and sulfide minerals, graphite, rutile, aluminum hydroxide, and other minerals are also present in some samples. Although the reserves appear to be large, future potential will depend on the establishment of a stable government and the introduction of modern mining and exploration techniques.

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Mr. Bowersox (MBGary77@aol.com) is president of GeoVision, Inc., Herkules, Nevada, and has been active in Afghanistan since 1970. Dr. Foord (acawood) was a resource geologist-geologist with the U.S. Geological Survey, Denver, Colorado. Mr. Laurs is senior editor of Gems & Gemology, and Dr. Stigley is director of GIA Research, at GIA in Carlsbad, California. Mr. Smith (cp@beyond.com) is director of the Global Gem Lab, Lucerne, Switzerland.

The gem mines of Afghanistan are some of the oldest in the world. The late Sassanid mines at Sar-e-Sang, in the Badakhschan region, have been worked for at least 6,500 years (see, e.g., Wyatt et al., 1981). Today, Afghanistan continues to be an important source of various gem minerals—including emerald, ruby, sapphire, aquamarine, tourmaline, and spodumene (see, e.g., Bowersox and Chamberlain, 1998). Yet relatively little is known about many of the gem localities.

This article reports on the only known source of ruby in Afghanistan: the Jegdalek region. A historical review, the geology, mining methods, and current production of gem corundum (figure 1) from Jegdalek are given below, together with the results of our research on the gemological properties of this material.

BACKGROUND

Although most of the records of the Ministry of Mines and Industry have been destroyed by the rocket attacks and bombs that have plagued Kabul since 1979, we were able to glean a fair amount of information from the literature. The geographic location of Afghanistan among several powerful neighbors (i.e., China, Iran, Pakistan, Uzbekistan, Tajikistan, and Turkmenistan, figure 2) has resulted in a long history of turmoil. Additionally, invasions by the Greeks (327 BC), Mongols (1227), British (1838–1919), and Russians (1979–1988), among others, destroyed and/or displaced portions of the Afghan population. However, these major invasions also influenced gem exploration and production, as gems were sought to trade for weapons. In addition, throughout history, Afghan mining areas have been the objects of tribal wars and banditry (see, e.g., Wood, 1941). In 1992, the senior author experienced nightly rocket attacks when he visited the ruby mining area.

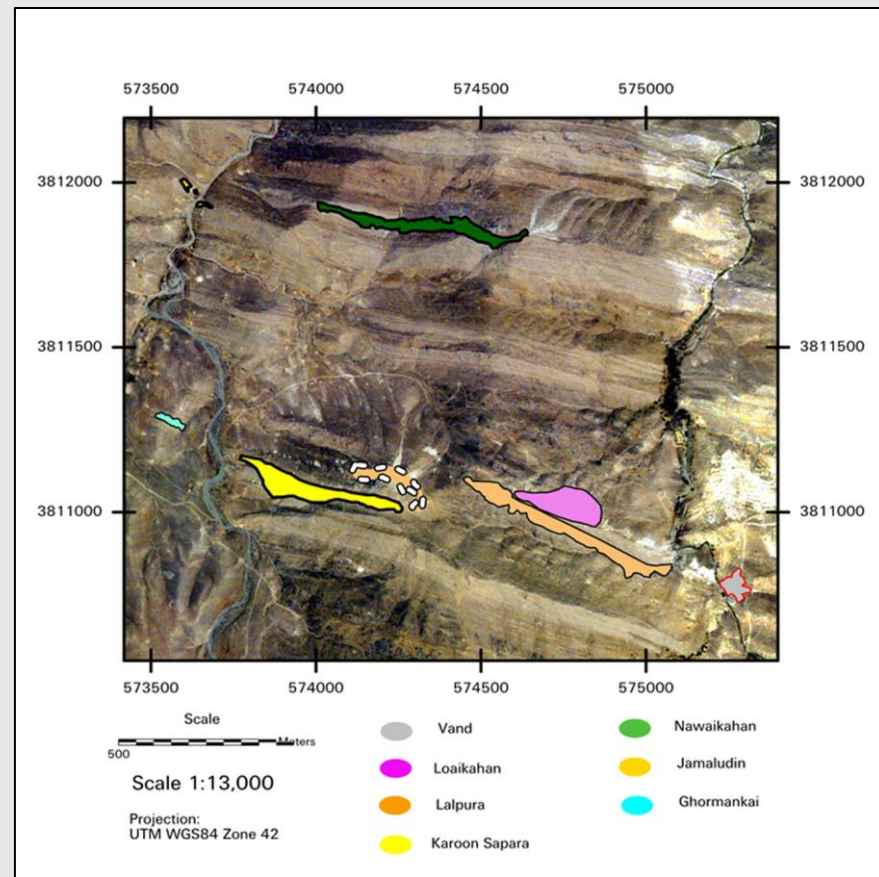

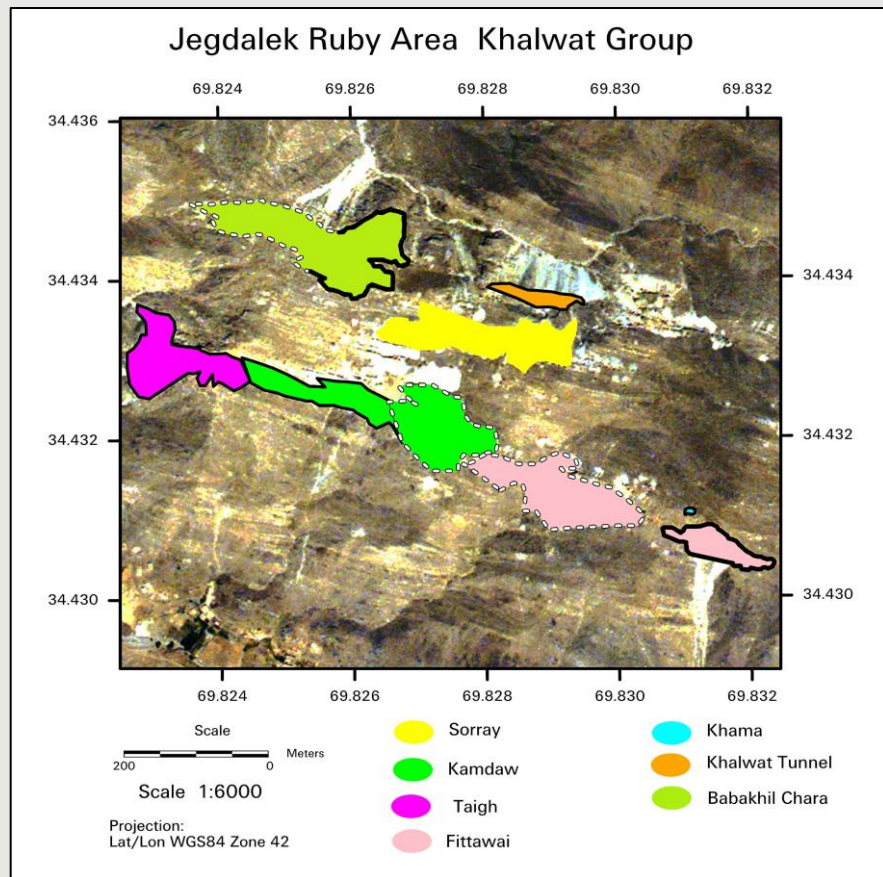

The Jegdalek mines have been worked for more than 700 years. During the 1,200s, wealthy Muhammadan merchants sold rubies to Sultan Khan and other famous historical fig-

Message from Gary Bowersox

Dear Reader:

For over seven thousand years the Afghanistan gemstone industry has expanded in the value and number of gemstones produced. Today due to the Taliban take over of Afghanistan the private gemstone industry has come to a screeching halt.

The goal of this Newsletter is to assist in providing world gem industry and private buyers and other interested parties with an introduction through photos, products and information for purchasing and selling Afghanistan and other country gemstone industry goods.
